

OPINIONS OF SENIORS ARE ASKED IN BLANK SENT OUT THIS WEEK

Purpose of Questionnaire To Find
What Is Thought by Seniors
About Collegiate Life

To ascertain the total reaction of seniors who will be graduated this June to the courses offered by the University and to other matters connected with collegiate life, the annual senior questionnaire has been sent out this week by the University Survey commission, under the chairmanship of Charles W. Watkeys, professor of mathematics.

Relative value in the student's opinion of personal contacts, studies, discussion groups, and various college activities is requested in the first section of the paper. Here, the senior is asked to grade all the activities in which he has participated by a series of numerals, according to the value which he places on each one.

The changes in plans for future vocations are indicated in the second section. The relation between the student's field of concentration and the vocation which he has chosen are requested, as are the causes which led to this choice.

A request for an estimate of the relative difficulty and demands of the courses offered in the curriculum is contained further in the questionnaire. The different elements entering into the merits of each course are analyzed and the student is requested to tell why he chose the courses he did and to offer suggestions and recommendations concerning them.

A list of extra-curricular reading in which the student has indulged during the year is asked for in the last section of the paper.

Results of the questionnaire issued last year were also announced this week. The women lead the men with a total of 276 books read, opposed to a total of 235 on the part of the men. Fiction lead non-fiction in the reading of both groups.

University 'Y' Will Decide Question of Sophomore Camp

The question of a sophomore camp for next year has been submitted this week to the present freshman class for their approval or disapproval by the University Y. M. C. A.

If the opinion shows a strong vote in favor of the suggested plan, a committee will be appointed to work out the details of the sophomore camp. The general scope of the camp will be largely similar to those of the present freshman camp. The new camp will be held during the first three days of the week preceding the opening of the University, and directly following the freshman camp.

The freshmen are urged to send in their opinions concerning the sophomore camp in the near future, in order that the plans for the camp can be made in time for opening next year, stated Walter O. Makowsky, '28, secretary of the University Y. M. C. A.

VARSITY MUSICIANS GUESTS OF ALUMNI

Alumni Election Held At Dinner;
Brown, Chairman, Announces
Scholarship Awards

Members of the University Musical clubs were guests at the annual banquet of the Central Alumni association of the University, held Thursday, April 4, in the Cambridge club, Chicago.

All officers of the Central Alumni association were re-elected at the annual election held at the banquet. Members of the Alumni Scholarship committee were also re-elected for another year of tenure.

A report on the work which this committee is doing was made by Charles A. Brown, '79, trustee of the University. Mr. Brown announced the men whom the scholarship committee is planning to send to Rochester next year. He also announced others who have applied for admission to the University.

Dr. Arthur J. May, professor of history, was one of the speakers at this banquet, discussing briefly the changes in the curriculum and educational policy of the University which were recently announced. Hugh A. Smith, '07, also addressed the assemblage. Many Rochester students, in addition to members of the Musical clubs, were present.

A cablegram was sent to Dr. Rush Rhee, president of the University, who is now vacationing abroad, wishing him the best of health and general good luck.

Wisconsin has a 15-year-old freshman who entered college with a straight A record in high school. He has gained considerable fame as a writer of prose and poetry, and his present ambition is to become coxswain of the Wisconsin freshman crew.

Sleepless But Sophisticated Musicians Return To College With Lurid Stories

Returning early Tuesday morning from their six day tour of the West, sixty University students are agreed that yawning through classes for the rest of the week is compensated for by the liberal education received in Toledo, Chicago, Detroit and Buffalo.

For the musicians learned that trains do leave on time, that thirty men change into tuxedos in the same Pullman car only with a great deal of sweating and swearing, that it is possible but difficult to keep full dress shirts uncrumpled in the back seat, and various other facts that every man should know.

In spite of changing into tuxedos with the thermometer above 90 in a cramped Pullman; in spite of learning "This is the biggest hotel in the world," "This is the longest boulevard system in the world," and "Chicago has grown more in 100 years than Paris in 2000"; in spite of the fact that they saw no gun battles—the glee club men feel there were

ENGINEERS PRODUCE OWN MOTION PICTURE

Film Traces a Pictorial Outline of Courses In Engineering
Over Four Year Period

"Training Engineers at the University of Rochester," a two reel motion picture which has been produced under the direction of the Engineer's club of the University was shown Wednesday afternoon in Carnegie building to the members of the faculty and to the administration. Wednesday evening it was also shown at a "home talent night" meeting of the Engineer's club.

The picture is a pictorial outline of the engineering course, and the engineering department is the first department to make such a thing. Its main purpose is to advertise the engineering course, and it will be shown to the seniors of the various high schools in connection with a short talk by one of the faculty.

With campus scenes as an introduction the brief plot gets under way as a sub-freshman confers with Professor Gavett about the engineering course. The scene is then changed to show freshmen engineers at work in the mechanical lab, at drawing, and then in the chemistry lab.

As the film swings into the sophomore year there are scenes of work in applied mechanics and machine design, together with views of the lectures, and drawing room work.

The work of the junior and senior engineers features the picture with scenes of the materials lab, testing work with concrete cylinders, wooden beams, and steel bars, as well as tests of lubricating oils. The following part of the film shows the work in hydraulics and surveying on the campus. For the senior year the scene swings into the well equipped machine shop and into the power lab, where engine, refrigeration and boiler testing is being done. The classes in industrial organization, factory layout, time and motion study are also shown.

New Editors Of The Campus Will Be Elected This Noon

New editors of The Campus will be elected at a meeting of the editorial board to be held this noon. The positions of editor-in-chief, news, sport, and exchange editors will be filled at this meeting. Whether the freshmen associate editors will be elected at this time is problematical, said P. Austin Bleyler, '29, present editor-in-chief. It is customary to hold elections for associate editorships in the autumn.

With the publication of the next issue the new staff will assume responsibility for the following editions.

"Only juniors are eligible for election to the post of editor-in-chief," said T. Richard Long, '27, chairman of the non-athletic activities committee of the Board of Control. A further restriction provides that no student who holds a position on a local newspaper can be elected to the office.
